

2017-18 Family Learning Sundays

An educational initiative of Providence Public Library

Join us...the 1st Sunday of the month at 2 pm October through May for a variety of interactive workshops for children ages 5 - 10 and their families.

February 4 — Improv with Jess

Do you want to laugh, play and be silly? Crack jokes and try out your acting skills? Come and play at Improv with Jess. We will be playing Improv games geared for children. This class is wonderful for class clowns, shy children and everyone in between!

March 4 — Pattern Art with Anna McNeary

Play and print with pattern with RISD Artist/Educator Anna McNeary. We will mix, match and layer shapes and colors to create printed designs that zig, zag, roll, squiggle and repeat.

April 8 — Fiddle N' Fun

A unique, hands-on music experience filled with singing, movement and instruments where participants will create and use simple one-stringed instruments to create their own music!

May 6 — Casey Farm Egg to Chick

In a hands-on program, Historic New England's Casey Farm tells how chickens are raised, what they eat, and how we protect them from predators. Learn about a chicken's life cycle, hold and touch a variety of eggs from hummingbird to ostrich, see and touch a live Dominique chicken, and learn how to properly hold a baby chick!
